

Mathematics 501 — Introduction to Topology

Textbook: James R. Munkries, Topology, Second Edition

Contents:

Topology forms the basis of modern analysis. In this class the definitions of open, closed and compact sets and the fundamental idea of continuity are investigated in a general setting. Further topics are connectedness of sets, countability and separation properties. This allows the use of these concepts in more abstract settings such as function spaces.