

HARPER LEE'S GO SET A WATCHMAN PANEL DISCUSSION

In July of 2015, almost 55 years to the day after To Kill A Mockingbird was published, Harper Lee published her only other novel, Go Set A Watchman. While the books are similar in location and theme, they also vary in time frame and portrayal of the characters. And, while these books were published over a half century apart, the issues raised are just as immediate today as they were in 1960.

Join us at the West Valley Regional Branch of Los Angeles Public Library as we welcome David Gerrold, Dr. Linda Rader Overman and Cheryl Spector as they lead a discussion about these two remarkable novels and their author.

David Gerrold is the author of over fifty books, hundreds of articles and columns, and over a dozen television episodes.

Linda Rader Overman, PhD, is an adjunct professor of English at California State University, Northridge and the author of Letters Between Us, a National Best Book Awards finalist.

Cheryl Spector, PhD, directs the Freshman Common Reading Program at California State University, Northridge where she is a professor in the English Department.
