

Fairborn Daily Herald

Online Edition

Tuesday, June 12, 2007

Aviation Hall lands filmmaker as enshrinement emcee

Acclaimed producer takes place of actor and pilot Michael Dorn

Tuesday, June 12, 2007

WPAFB Ð The National Aviation Hall of Fame is pleased to welcome Brian J. Terwilliger, as the Master-of-Ceremonies for the 46th Annual Enshrinement Dinner & Ceremony occurring in Dayton on July 21. Ð Actor and pilot Michael Dorn, who was previously announced as the emcee for the "Oscar Night of Aviation," recently had to cancel his participation due to a production schedule conflict.

Terwilliger has earned notoriety in both entertainment and aviation circles for his acclaimed 2005 DVD documentary, One Six Right, a homage to general aviation (GA) and the romance of flying, which he both directed and independently produced. Ð

A native of Connecticut, Terwilliger moved with his family to Southern California at age 16. Ð While attending college at California State University, Northridge, he created a new curriculum and major Ð B. A. in Business and Entertainment Ð for which he received his degree. Ð He currently owns and operates his own L.A.-based production company, Terwilliger Productions.

One Six Right refers to the main runway coordinates of the film's main character Ð Southern California's Van Nuys Airport. Ð The documentary uncovers a rich history where Amelia Earhart broke speed records, Marilyn Monroe was discovered and scenes from Casablanca were filmed.

Terwilliger was inspired to make the film by his own experience of learning to fly at Van Nuys. Ð With extensive professional experience in film, television, music video and commercial production, Terwilliger's goal was to capture the passion of flying on film while celebrating the unsung hero of aviation Ð the local airport. Ð

The pioneering film features the latest High Definition (HD) technology with thrilling aerial photography, rare archival footage and a sweeping original score. Ð Though the Van Nuys aircraft he spectacularly captured on film include classics of the 1920's on up to today's state-of-the-art jets, One Six Right is truly a captivating people picture. Ð With no narrator, the story is told through the personal accounts of flight enthusiasts, air traffic controllers, historians and passionate pilots including Sydney Pollack, Tony Bill, Clay Lacy, and NAHF enshrinee, Bob Hoover. Ð

Through Terwilliger's love story about flying and of one airport, past to present, One Six Right shares the timeless romance of aviation with all ages. Ð Actor and pilot, Harrison Ford, a previous NAHF ceremony emcee, calls it, "one of the finest aviation films ever made." Ð However, the film's popularity extends beyond serving as entertainment. Ð Since its release in June 2005, One Six Right has been adopted by a number of national aviation organizations to graphically communicate the value of general aviation to the public, especially local GA airports, which have been disappearing at an alarming rate. Ð A special 12-city, nationwide tour included a screening for members of Congress.

With nearly 50,000 DVD's sold independently worldwide, One Six Right has also established Terwilliger as an innovator in movie distribution. Ð His determination to maintain all distribution rights was a noted departure from the common practice of selling rights to a third-party distributor. Ð A viral marketing strategy initially allowed the film to develop significant presence within its niche audiences worldwide. The film's recent premier and repeat airings on Discovery HD Theater, a division of Discovery Television, enabled One Six Right to be seen by an even broader public audience.

Terwilliger will preside over the induction of five pioneers of air and space being honored by the NAHF at the black-tie dinner and ceremony; Walter J. Boyne, Evelyn Bryan Johnson, Steve Fossett, Sally K. Ride and Frederick W. Smith. All five are expected to personally accept their NAHF enshrinement before an audience of over a thousand that will include leaders from civil and military aviation, aerospace industry, government officials, nominees and former enshrinees, and aviation enthusiasts from around the U.S.

The NAHF appreciates Brian J. Terwilliger for lending his talent as our emcee to this year's formal ceremony and looks forward to hosting him in Dayton, the Birthplace of Aviation. For more information about One Six Right visit www.onesixright.com.

Reservations for the 46th Annual Enshrinement Dinner & Ceremony on July 21, 2007, may be placed by calling 937-256-0944 x10 or online at www.nationalaviation.org, no later than July 6. The NAHF is a Congressionally chartered 501(c)(3) non-profit organization. Seats are $150 per person and a portion of each is thus deductible as allowed by law.

Related Links

Content © 2007 Fairborn Daily Herald

Software © 1998-2007 1up! Software, All Rights Reserved