Red blood cells carry oxygen to cells throughout the body. They are approximately 0.00001 m in diameter.

Most door knobs are placed one meter above the floor.

One quarter of the distance around the Earth.