FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

“Mix N’ Mingle” at the Pride Center is All About Creating New Friendships for the New Year

Northridge — The Pride Center at the University Student Union (USU) invites CSUN students to attend its “Mix N’ Mingle” event on Thursday, Feb. 4 at 6p.m. to kick off the spring semester and expand their comfort zone by making new connections among the LGBTQ community and its allies. This event is completely free and an easy way to give students the chance to create friendships at CSUN.

“Mix & Mingle gives LGBTQ and ally students the opportunity to start off the new semester the right way,” said Sarina Loeb, Pride Center Coordinator, “Students can network with each other and learn about all things Pride Center while having a blast playing the fun games and team building activities we have planned.”

This interactive experience at the Pride Center will encourage students to enjoy an evening of great conversation, free food and a good time among friendly people. Whether you’re a part of the LGBTQ community or an ally, all are welcome to attend and make their connections to other Matadors that much stronger.
