The National Gallery of Writing

The National Day of Writing

Sponsored by the National Council of Teachers of English and co-sponsored locally by the Cal State Northridge Writing Project

October 20, 2009

In the National Gallery of Writing we're collecting all kinds of writing from people of all ages—students to retirees, from all walks of life—people just like you.

Upload your writing—stories, poems, recipes, emails, blogs, even audio, video, and artwork—to the Cal State Northridge Writing Project gallery. Go to www.csun.edu/writingproject and click on the National Gallery of Writing button.

An affiliate of the California Writing Project and the National Writing Project, The Cal State Northridge Writing Project is a network of K-16 educators who work with teachers, students, and parents in the San Fernando Valley and beyond to improve the teaching of writing.
