QuizPod:

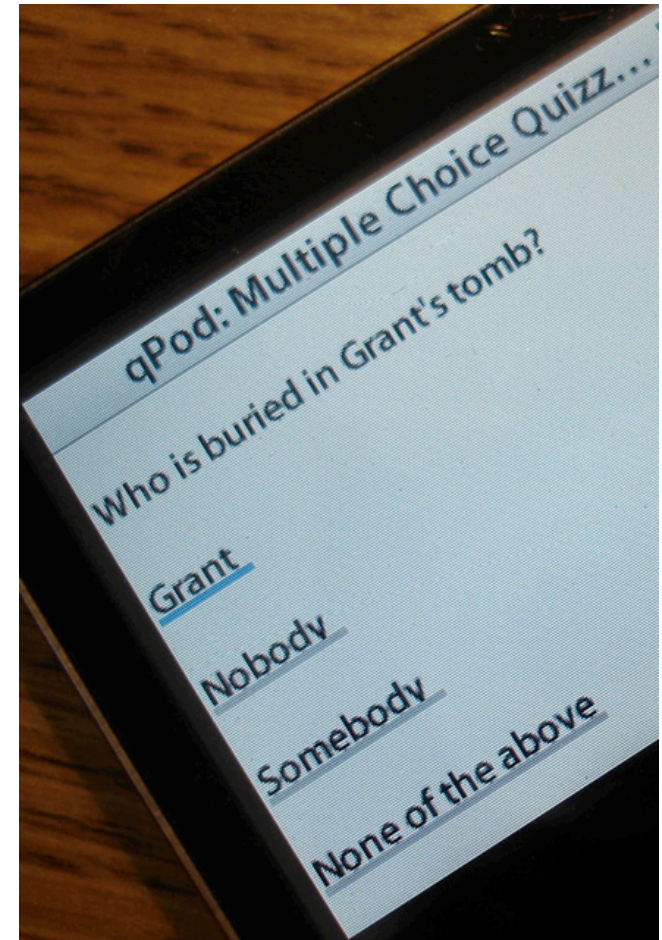

A Multiple Choice Application

QuizPod, or qPod, is an interactive application of an iPod, which provides a multiple choice quiz.

For example, it asks,
“When was the war of 1812?”

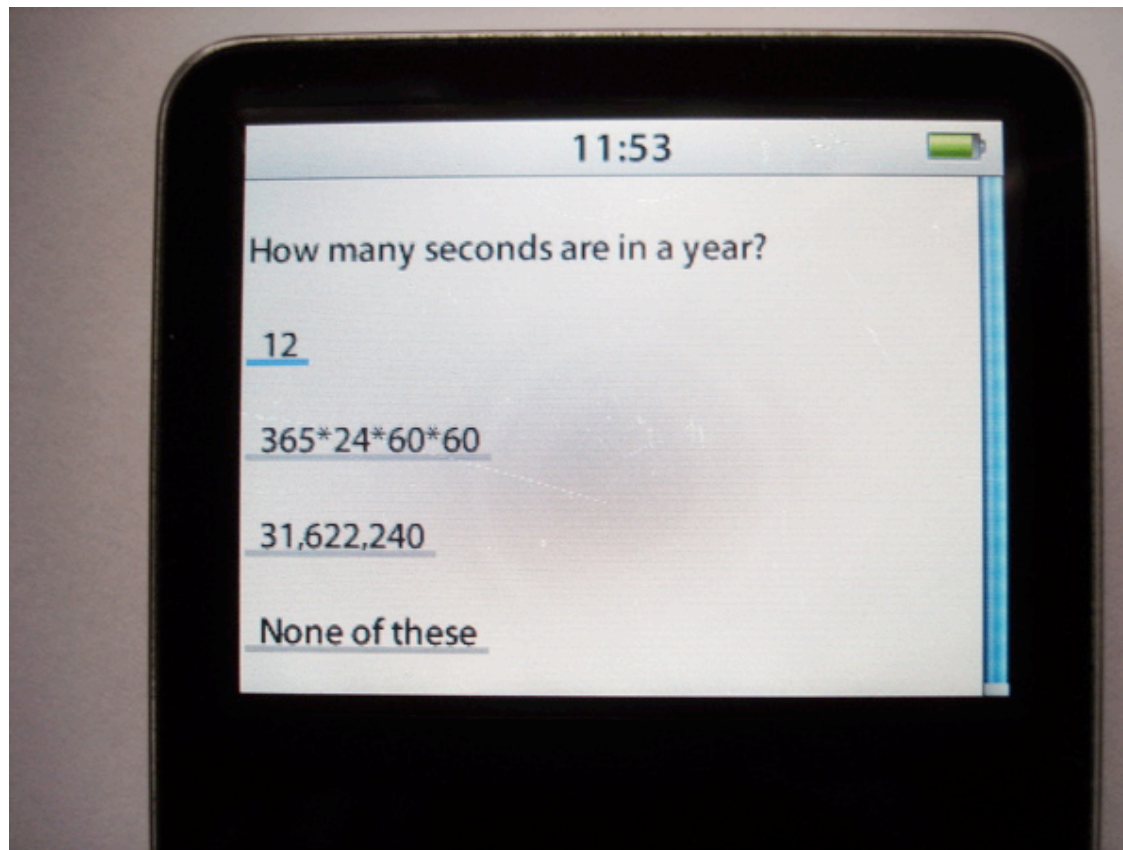

- 1492
- 1812
- 1984
- 2001

It allows you to select an answer, using the click wheel, and then it gives a proper reply.

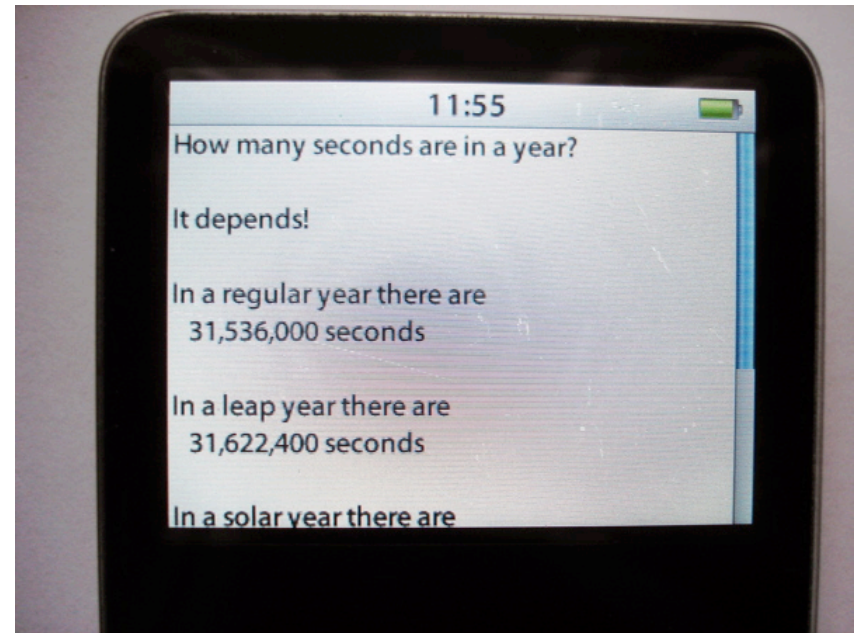

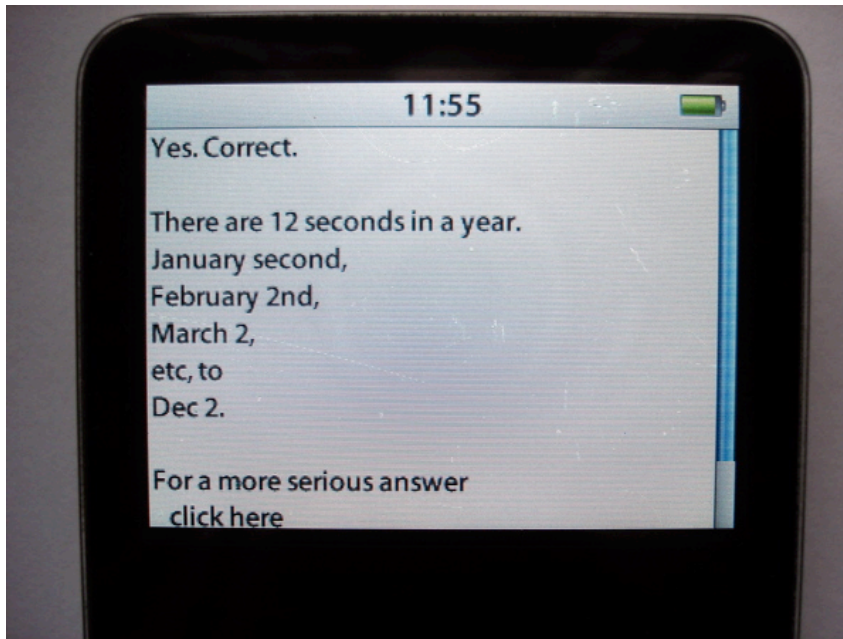

Here is another quick quiz,
you guess, before looking ahead.

How many seconds are in a year?

One Correct answer is 12.

Other better answers follow

So go learn, about solar years and sidereal years.
(They differ by about 1,000 seconds, eh? Surprise!)

You can get this quizPod (free) from the following:

`http://www.csun.edu/~jmotil/quizPod/qPod.zip`

It unzips, and creates a folder called qPod.
Just copy this to the Notes folder of your iPod
as shown below (on a mac).

To try quizPod, just scroll down to Notes,
and select one of the questions.

To create your own quizPod questions (like “What color is orange?”) just look at one of the example question folders (war is easier, secs is more interesting).

Create a duplicate of that folder, rename it, and modify the file “ask”, substitute your own question (and modify the answer if necessary). Make sure that it is in “plain” text, save it, copy it to the iPod Notes, and try it (and fix it, etc).

Enjoy.

Send me your creative questions.
Comments are appreciated.
