El Matador State Beach, Malibu
32215 Pacific Coast Highway

Drifting Directions:
El Matador State Beach is between Zuma beach and Leo Carrillo State Beach. There are a couple of signs for it, but they are small, so keep your eyes open. If you get to Leo Carrillo, you’ve gone too far. Note the address above.

- Take the Ventura Freeway (101) North to Kanan (Dume) Road
- Turn Left and go over the mountains to the ocean
- At Pacific Coast Highway turn right and go North
- Go past Zuma Beach, Trancas Canyon Road, and Broad Beach Road
- Watch for a sign noting that El Matador State Beach is in ¼ mile
- At the next sign for El Matador State Beach, turn Left into the parking lot
- We’ll meet in the parking lot before walking down the path to the beach
- Parking is $8 per car.

For more information on El Matador State Beach, see:

General Considerations:

- Please arrive by 2:00 pm. Expect the drive to take about an hour from campus without traffic.
- Dress appropriately: layered clothing is best so you can deal with whatever the weather dishes out. Rain is always a possibility during spring, so check the forecast and bring a rain jacket if necessary.
- Plan on getting wet up to your knees or higher! Bring shorts, surf trunks, or a wetsuit. Bring a towel and an extra pair of shorts to change into.
- Wear footwear that can get wet; diving/surfing booties are best, but old tennis shoes are fine, too.
- We intend to complete the field activities by 4:15 pm.