Forum Discussions

Forum posts are part of your Writing Intensive Student Learning Outcome writing assignments and will be graded for proper grammar, citations, spelling and well developed concepts. Take time to review the Writing Intensive Goals to the right as well as the notes on Academic Dishonesty and Plagiarism on page 3.

These forum discussions are worth up to 10 points each and are over 1/3 of your grade. Points are based on originality, relevance to the text/lecture and interaction with other student comments as well as your writing skills. You can earn up to 7 points for your initial post. The remaining points can be earned through thoughtful responses and interactions with classmates.

There will be nine forum discussions throughout the semester. I will post a topic to which you can respond. You will have the week to comment as many times as you like but you must make your first post by Thursday night.

Your initial post needs to be a minimum of 200 words. Responses to classmates must be at least 50 words total.

Final Essay

There is a final essay due at the end of the semester. It is worth 30 points. I will expect you to draw material from the entire semester to write this. The topic will be posted two weeks before it is due. See separate posting for Essays to understand the format and what is expected.

Extra Credit Essay

There will be one extra credit essay. Topic to be posted the 11th week of class. It involves going to an art museum IN PERSON and writing a compare/contrast essay. See separate posting for Essays to understand the format and what is expected.

Grading Essays

In order to receive all the points on any of the essays, you will need to follow the directions very carefully, being sure to address all of the questions raised. You will need to use good grammar and spelling. You will need to organize your thoughts in a clear and coherent manner. Further, you will need to have content that is interesting and insightful. See Grading Essays posting on Moodle for further detail.

PLAGIARISM

Plagiarized work will not be accepted nor will revisions be allowed, and the matter referred to the Office of Academic Affairs. This includes visual material as well as written!

CSUN Policy is summarized below.

CSUN Policy On Plagiarism

The following material is quoted from the University Catalog:

Source: California State University, Northridge “Appendix C, Policies on Nondiscrimination and student conduct” in University Catalog <http://www.collegesource.org/displayinfo/catalink.asp> (accessed 16 October, 2001)

From page 544 “41301. EXPULSION, SUSPENSION AND PROBATION OF STUDENTS. Following procedures consonant with due process established pursuant to Section 41304, any student of a campus may be expelled, suspended, placed on probation or given a lesser sanction for one or more of the following causes which must be campus related. Taken together those causes constitute the STUDENT CONDUCT CODE. (a) Cheating or plagiarism in connection with an academic program at a campus…..”

The maintenance of academic integrity and quality education is the responsibility of each student within this university and the California State University system. Cheating or plagiarism in connection with an academic program at a campus is listed in Section 41301, Title 5, California Code of Regulations, as an offense for which a student may be expelled, suspended, or given a less severe disciplinary sanction. Academic dishonesty is an especially serious offense and diminishes the quality of scholarship and degrades those who depend upon the integrity of the campus programs. Such dishonesty includes: A. CHEATING (see catalog for details) B. FABRICATION (see catalog for details) C. FACILITATING ACADEMIC DISHONESTY (see catalog for details) D. PLAGIARISM Intentionally or knowingly representing the words, ideas, or work of another as one’s own in any academic exercise.

Comments: 1. Direct Quotation: Every direct quotation must be identified by quotation marks, or by appropriate indentation or by other means of identification, and must be promptly cited in a footnote. Proper footnote style for any academic department is outlined by the MLA Style Sheet or K. L. Turabian’s A Manual for Writers of Term Papers, Theses and Dissertations. These and similar publications are available in the Matador Bookstore and at the reference desk of the Oviatt Library. 2. Paraphrase: Prompt acknowledgment is required when material from another source is paraphrased or summarized in whole or in part in your own words. To acknowledge a paraphrase properly, one might state: “to paraphrase Locke’s comment…” and conclude with a footnote identifying the exact reference. A footnote acknowledging only a directly quoted statement does not suffice to notify the reader of any preceding or succeeding paraphrased material. 3. Borrowed Facts or Information: Information obtained in one’s reading or research which is not common knowledge among students in the course must be acknowledged. Examples of common knowledge might include the names of leaders of prominent nations, basic scientific laws, etc. Materials which contribute only to one’s general understanding of the subject may be acknowledged in the bibliography and need not be immediately footnoted. One footnote is usually sufficient to acknowledge indebtedness when a number of connected sentences in the paper draw their special information from one source. When direct quotations are used, however, quotation marks must be inserted and prompt acknowledgment is required.”

PROFESSIONAL ATTITUDE AND PRACTICE

You have made a conscious, informed choice to be a member of this class. This means that you have read the syllabus, and understand the workload required. Be aware that on average, you should spend between 2-3 hours on your own (reading, studying, making notes, working on assignments, etc.) for every hour that you are in class, dependent on the particular week. Some weeks will be heavier than others.

Enrollment in this course constitutes an agreement with me that we will both be engaged in all criteria and requirements as stated in this syllabus and in class, including class environment and communications with each other. Developing a professional attitude and practices for future professional environments is important; part of that development is respect for yourself and your personal learning, as well as respect for the instruction and learning of other students in the classes in which you agree to be a member. Ideally, a classroom is a community where members meet and participate for their own and others’ benefit. The more you put into it, the more you will get out of it, and the more investment you will have in what happens in the classroom.

The following is a detailed description of the standards for professional practice as a student, future or current self-employed professional, and/or employee for any company:

- Coming to class prepared.
- Maintaining a cheerful, professional, constructive attitude.
- Substantively and positively contributing to group and class dynamics.
- Participating enthusiastically in whole class activities, small group activities, and collegial presentations.
- Offers relevant, insightful, and constructive comments during class, but does not dominate discussions.
