What Is a Chartered Property Casualty Underwriter (CPCU)

Chartered Property Casualty Underwriter (CPCU) is a professional credential earned by individuals who specialize in risk management and property-casualty insurance.

The CPCU credential is most likely to be earned by insurance agents and brokers, insurance claims representatives, risk managers, and underwriters.

How do I earn a CPCU designation?

To obtain the CPCU credential, an individual must pass a number of classes covering insurance and risk management topics. Required coursework includes four core courses: foundations of risk management and insurance, insurance operations, business law for insurance professionals, and finance and accounting for insurance professionals.

Additionally, three courses must also be taken in either commercial lines or personal lines, and an elective course chosen by the candidate must be completed. Electives courses include those related to techniques, practices, and strategies used in the insurance and risk management industry.

Candidates are also required to pass an exam focused on ethics.

Designee Benefits

Professionals who earn the credential are given the opportunity to join the CPCU Society, a professional organization that allows members to network and receive more technical education.
