

Carol Morejon

Student Scholar

Carol is a Spanish graduate student from CSUN. She is continuing her education pursuing a Masters of Spanish degree, in order to become an Spanish Instructor, and her goal is to become part of CSUN faculty. She works at the Office of Cоommunity Engagement at CSUN and assits administrative directors to learn more about student opportunities and CSUN's promise to the community.

Helping and enriching the community are the basis of Carol's ideals. She also works as an spanish interpreter in diferent fields to help the community communicate and get their word across efficently.

She is also involved in many events and activies around the CSUN campus and proudly represents CSUN graduate students outside as well. She is a mother who loves people and has many interactive hobbies like dancing, cooking, exploring nature, where she is always bringing diversity together with one single purpose, enjoy life by having fun and enriching ourselves with the gift of love, acceptance and compasion. And she deep snorkels!
