“My Life in China”
Directed by Kenneth Eng, A Guggenheim Fellow

Film Screening at CSUN
Co-Sponsored by
China Institute & Department of Asian American Studies
College of Humanities

6:00-9:00 p.m., October 6, 2016
Ferman Presentation Room
Oviatt Library, CSUN Campus

With light refreshments and Q&A with Director Eng

“My Life in China” is an award-winning documentary by Director Kenneth Eng, a Guggenheim Fellow. It follows the story of his father, who left China during the Cultural Revolution in 1966 and made a life for himself in Boston with his wife and two children. The film draws a portrait of a father who made huge sacrifices for a better life, endured hardships in America, and asks the challenging question “What does it mean to be Chinese and American?”

Ken Eng says of the film: “I wanted to honor and acknowledge the sacrifice of my father and all of our ancestors. They provided us with the opportunity to get a good education so that we could have the freedom to chase our dreams. My life in China is the result of my desire to tell my story in an authentic way.”

This film show is free and open to the public. Campus map is available at this link, http://www.csun.edu/csun-maps, and public parking is available on campus for $8 a day. For more information, please contact Dr. Weimin Sun at weimin.sun@csun.edu or Jeannie Chen at jingpiano@g.ucla.edu