

Pathways to Inclusive Teaching and Learning Excellence in the 21st Century

Dr. Joseph L. White is currently Professor Emeritus of Psychology and Psychiatry at the University of California, Irvine where he spent most of his career as a teacher, supervising psychologist, mentor, and Director of ethnic studies and cross-cultural programs. In addition to his teaching and research, Dr. White has been a practicing psychologist and consultant. He has served as a supervising psychologist and staff affiliate psychologist to five hospitals and three clinical practices in Southern California. He has worked as a consultant with school districts, universities, private organizations, drug prevention programs, and government agencies. Dr. White was appointed to the California State Psychology Licensing Board by Governor Edmund G. Brown, Jr. and served as chairman for three years. He is currently a member of the Board of Trustees of The Menninger Foundation in Houston, Texas.

This presentation will highlight a mixture of instructional styles, critical thinking within the context of ethnic and cultural studies, alternate approaches to epistemology, and an ongoing multicultural/multiethnic dialogue within the academy. Dr. White will discuss the synergy created by combining four major teaching and learning strategies. He will facilitate discovery and rediscovery of fascination with the learning process, activate internal motivation to pursue life-long learning and encourage students to actively participate in the betterment of society.
