

DEPARTMENT OF ENGLISH AWARDS—FALL 2020

DEADLINES AND ELIGIBILITY

Unless otherwise noted below, all application materials must be submitted by the applicant to Wendy Ventura (wendy.ventura@csun.edu) via email by 4:00 p.m. on Friday, November 20nd, 2020. Please attach one copy of each required document to the email.

Application forms for individual awards (where required) are available as links on this form and on the Department of English website: The Department of English Awards- Fall 2020.

Essays and scholarly work submitted for consideration must have been completed between November 23, 2019, and November 20, 2020. Papers completed at the very end of the Fall 2019 semester will therefore be eligible for these Fall awards.

Special note to students who are currently receiving financial aid: Please be aware that award money may affect your financial aid status. We encourage you to consult the financial aid office to discover how receiving award money might impact your personal financial aid status.

For awards requiring letters of recommendation from English Department faculty, students should request these letters as soon as possible. At the bare minimum, students should ask if a professor will be willing to recommend them a week before the application deadline. Many professors will need more time than one week. Students should also inform their recommenders of pertinent academic information about themselves in a brief résumé (i.e. overall GPA; GPA in English major; membership in university organizations such as clubs, athletic teams, or student government; full or part-time employment status; other awards or achievements associated with CSUN). A pdf for the general recommendation form is available here and on the department webpage: Department of English General Recommendation Form.

If you have any questions about these awards, please contact Michael Bryson, this year's chair of the Amenities and Awards Committee (michael.bryson@csun.edu).

The Linda Nichols Joseph English Merit Scholarship

In memory of Linda Nichols Joseph, an English major who graduated from CSUN cum laude in 1981, up to four prizes of $2,000 each will be awarded every year to undergraduate English majors who have demonstrated excellence in their studies. Particular consideration will be given to applicants who demonstrate financial need, who have taken a non-traditional path to college, or who demonstrate engagement in the discipline and/or commitment to further study in English. However, all applicants who meet the minimum GPA criterion are encouraged to apply.

Application Requirement: minimum 3.5 overall GPA

Application Materials: completed application form; letter discussing the applicant's qualifications for the award, including issues such as financial aid, and/or engagement in the discipline, and/or commitment to further study in English (1-2 pages); résumé or curriculum vitae; two letters of recommendation; Financial Aid release form (attached to application form).

The Oliver W. Evans Writing Prize

To commemorate Oliver W. Evans, his colleagues and friends have established two annual prizes of $500 to be awarded to the authors of the two best critical or creative pieces of prose—one for a paper on any topic and one for a paper on American literature—submitted in an upper-division English course during the academic year. Faculty may nominate students for this award by submitting their papers to the English Department office, and students may nominate themselves by similarly submitting their papers. All papers should indicate which of the two award designations they are targeting: “General Topics” or “American literature.” The awards will be made by a committee appointed annually by the Department of English.

Application Materials: one hard copy of the student's paper

The Eva Latif Writing Prize in Children's Literature

To commemorate Eva Latif, her colleagues and friends offer an annual prize of $500 to the author of the best piece of writing, critical or creative, by a student on the subject of children's literature. Faculty may nominate students for this award by submitting their papers to the English Department office, and students may nominate themselves by similarly submitting their papers. The award will be made by a committee appointed annually by the Department of English.

Application Materials: one hard copy of the student's paper

The Philip E. Love English 205 Scholarship

A prize of $500 will be given each year to the student whose achievements in the study of Business Communication are considered by the faculty as the most distinguished. This award honors the work and business contributions of Philip E. Love, a local entrepreneur whose success in the professional world occurred before he could finish his bachelor's degree, and kept him from returning to complete it. This award, thus, was conceived both to encourage and recognize continuing academic achievement for students who are also committed to the professional business world. The Philip E. Love award is funded by his family.

Application Requirements: applicant must be a CSUN student enrolled in at least 6 units in the semester in which the award is bestowed, minimum 3.0 GPA.

Application Materials: completed Philip E. Love Scholarship application form (available on the department website), faculty recommendation form completed by the applicant's English 205 professor, business writing sample completed between January 17, 2020 and November 20, 2020 (2- page maximum), personal statement describing applicant's understanding and commitment to strong business communication skills (1-page maximum).

The Peterson Morley Award

An award of $1,000 will be bestowed annually upon a student currently enrolled as an English major at CSUN in either the undergraduate or graduate program, who plans to enter the teaching profession at any level. Applications from students who demonstrate financial need to complete their studies will be given particular attention. This award is given in honor of Annamarie Peterson Morley, a professor at CSUN from 1965 to 1980, who taught with warmth, grace, humor, and wisdom. She was an elegant and humane woman, a model for teachers and students.

Application Requirements:

For any Undergraduate Student: registered as an English major, minimum 3.0 overall GPA, registered for at least 12 units in the subsequent semester.

For Graduate Students: registered in the English graduate program, minimum 3.25 GPA, registered for at least 6 units in the subsequent semester.

Application Materials: completed application form, personal vignette of a classroom experience that has motivated the applicant's desire to teach (3-page max.), unofficial transcript, two letters of recommendation, Financial Aid release form (attached to application form).

The Thomas Matthew Magness Graduate Memorial Fund

In memory of Thomas Matthew Magness, former English graduate student, this award will provide $1,000 tuition remission for a first-semester graduate student in the English MA program. Selection will be based on academic merit.

Application Requirement: minimum 3.6 overall undergraduate GPA.

Application Materials: one letter of recommendation speaking to academic strengths and a 500-word personal statement detailing interests and goals in the English MA program.
