How Do You See The World?
Tomorrow! Tuesday, October 2nd
10:00am -11:30am
Oviatt Library 16

Dr. Marcy DeVeaux will be facilitating a workshop for faculty on how seeing the world might lead to misperceptions of people and groups that are different from you. This 90-minute workshop, hosted by HR is designed to give participants the tools to discover their own personal bias that can shape our perceptions about people and groups, often leading to micro-aggressions that can cause harm and trauma impacting co-workers, students, even those in your personal lives. A second workshop available for staff and administrators will be November 1st at 10:00am.

For more information and how to register, please visit Human Resources' Professional Development page

Small Teaching Faculty Book Group

Thursdays, 11:00am – 12:15pm
October 11th, November 1st & November 29th
Santa Susana Hall 108

Big pedagogical changes are great if you have the luxury of time. But if you're interested in finding one thing today that could change your teaching tomorrow, then Small Teaching is for you. Join this Academic First Year Experiences faculty book group. Visit the Small Teaching page for more information and to RSVP.

Engaging Students: Teaching Tools In and Out of the Classroom

Friday, October 12th
12:00pm – 1:30pm
USU Sol Center
Santa Susana Room (3rd floor)

Faculty Development's Active Learning Ambassadors is hosting a workshop on Active Learning: What is it? Why should I use it? How do I do it? Come meet the new Active Learning Ambassadors, a group of faculty from various departments and colleges interested in helping you implement active learning strategies in your classes. This is the first in a series of seminars aimed at providing teaching tools for faculty in all types of classes.

Visit the Faculty Development website for more information and to RSVP.

Help Students Save Money: Affordable Learning Solutions

Monday October 22nd
9:00am–12:00pm
Ferman Presentation Room

Learn from fellow faculty who have incorporated low to zero cost materials into their courses without compromising quality. Learn why the Affordable Learning Solutions initiative is critical for the success of our students through an interactive panel, and find out about grant opportunities to join the AL$ initiative. Teaching for Student Success: What I Learned by Attending a Lilly Teaching Conference

Wednesday, November 28th
12:00pm –1:00pm
University Hall 211

Please join us for an exciting hour to learn from three faculty colleagues who attended the Lilly Conference this past spring hosted by Ashley Samson from Faculty Development. Discover what they learned and how they are implementing it into their classrooms. Learn about scaling up or down for large and small class sizes, ways to engage your students, and activities to promote deeper learning.

Visit the Faculty Development website for more information and to RSVP.

Course Organizers:

Showing the Big Picture of Your Course
Tuesday, November 27th & December 11th
3:00pm - 5:00pm
University Hall 211 (November)
Santa Susana Hall 108 (December)

Would it be helpful to have a simple template that graphically shows students what your course (or class session) aims to accomplish? Through the use of the Course Organizer Routine, instructors can help students understand the "big picture" of the course, and how lectures fit within it, including identifying critical concepts that will be central to understanding the course content, and establishing rituals that will be used throughout the course to guide discussions and learning.

Visit the Faculty Development website for more information and to RSVP.

Faculty Success Grant
Due Monday, October 15th by 4:00pm

The Office of Faculty Development is excited to announce a new grant, The Faculty Success Grant! Faculty who would like to engage in a professional development/travel activity this academic year and make a compelling case that this grant would directly benefit ALL three areas of faculty engagement (teaching, scholarship, AND service) are encouraged to submit a proposal.

The grant awards up to $500 and can be used towards activities such as:

- travel and/or registration fees for a teaching focused conference, a discipline-specific scholarly conference, or a leadership focused engagement to benefit faculty service roles
- memberships to faculty success oriented organizations (e.g., National Center for Faculty Development & Diversity; etc.)
For more detailed information, please visit the Faculty Success Grant page. The deadline for applications is Monday, October 15th by 4:00pm to the Office of Faculty Development.
