DEPARTMENT OF
GENDER & WOMEN'S STUDIES

The Institute for Feminist Studies and Social Action (IFSSA) was established in 2023 as a think tank of the Department of Gender and Women's Studies. Its mission is to create a space at CSUN that examines the multiple crises at the intersection of gendered, racial, sexual, religious, border, and economic injustice spiraling out of control due to the rise of authoritarian politics and violence, acceleration of unethical technological innovations and applications, unprecedented wealth concentration under advanced capitalism, and nearly complete ecological destruction. The Institute seeks to promote the scholarly work of CSUN faculty and students committed to understanding these processes and producing the social changes that are needed for the defense of life. IFSSA also fosters and sponsors programming that brings national and international feminist scholars together through event support and community outreach to tackle the great challenges facing humanity.
