About the University:
One of the largest universities in the country, California State University, Northridge (CSUN) is an urban, comprehensive university that delivers award-winning undergraduate and graduate programs to nearly 40,000 students annually and counts more than 330,000 alumni who elevate Southern California and beyond. Since its founding in 1958, CSUN has made a significant and long-term economic impact on California, generating nearly $1.9 billion in economic impact and more than 11,700 jobs each year. The LAEDC recognized CSUN as its 2015 Eddy Award winner for its positive economic impact. Serving more students on Pell Grants than any other institution in California, CSUN is also a social elevator and one of the most diverse universities in the country. CSUN ranks 13th in awarding bachelor’s degrees to historically underrepresented students and enrolls the largest number of students who are Deaf and hard of hearing of any U.S. state university. The journal Nature recently named CSUN a Rising Star for scientific research, and the NSF ranks CSUN in the top five nationally among similar institutions for graduates who go on to earn doctorates in the sciences. CSUN is where individuals rise. And through them, so does Greater Los Angeles and beyond.

About University Counseling Services:
University Counseling Services (UCS) is a department within the Division of Student Affairs. UCS’ mission is to promote student mental health and well-being and positively impact students’ academic performance and success. UCS serves a very diverse student population through the provision of a variety of services including intake/clinical assessment; crisis/urgent care services; case management; short-term individual and couples counseling; groups and workshops; and psychiatry services. Our multidisciplinary team of mental health professionals also engage in prevention/outreach programming and consultation to the campus community. UCS provides training for three psychology interns through our American Psychological Association (APA)-Accredited doctoral internship in Health Service Psychology and to student peer educators through our four peer education programs focused on depression and suicide prevention, sexual violence prevention, eating disorders and body image concerns.

About the Educational Opportunity Program:
The Educational Opportunity Program (EOP) serves as a primary vehicle for the CSU in increasing the access and academic success/retention of California’s historically economically and educationally disadvantaged students, thus abiding by the legislative intent originally established for the Program in 1969. Students are selected for the program based on EOP’s holistic and deliberative admissions process including interviews, which is also used to introduce applicants to the academic expectations of the university and to help them build community with other students and EOP staff. All entering EOP Freshmen must do an EOP Transitional Program in the summer before entering their first semester. These include: Residential Bridge, Commuter Bridge or FreshStart. The Freshmen Bridge Programs are totally separate programs but run simultaneously. Both are based on long term Learning Community model. These Learning Communities are formed in the summer and continue throughout the duration of the programs.

CSUN’s Commitment to You:
CSUN is committed to achieving excellence through teaching, scholarship, learning and inclusion. Our values include a respect for all people, building partnerships with the community and the encouragement of innovation, experimentation and creativity. CSUN strives to cultivate a community in which a diverse population can learn and work in an atmosphere of civility and respect. CSUN is especially interested in candidates who make contributions to equity and inclusion in the pursuit of excellence for all members of the university community.
