Northridge — The University Student Union invites all CSUN students interested in working for the USU to attend one of its upcoming ‘Job Information Sessions.’ You can choose from two sessions in the Grand Salon at the USU on Wednesday, Sept. 23 from 12:30 to 1:30 p.m. or Thursday, Sept. 24 from 5 to 6 p.m.

“Every student interested in working for the USU and its centers is highly urged to attend,” said USU Program Coordinator for Training and Development, Matt Eickhoff. “The information sessions are extremely helpful to get insider tips on how to apply for our many great positions.”

All attendees will learn resume tips and tricks and how to successfully complete an online application for the USU.
