FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Channel Your Inner Creativity at the University Student Union’s “All That Art: Candy Land” Interactive Event

Northridge — The University Student Union (USU) invites all CSUN students to bring their friends and unleash their artistic side at “All That Art: Candy Land”! On Thursday, March 7, from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m., at the Plaza del Sol of the USU, join in on the fun by visiting the four themed areas of this outdoor interactive event, which will feature stations decorated to look like the iconic Candy Land board game, including the famous Rainbow Path. Each activity station will offer different crafts for Matadors to take part in. Delicious food, photo opportunities, and music will also be provided along with a chance to enter a raffle for great prizes — and it’s all FREE for CSUN students!

“At the USU, we’re excited to bring back the always fun ‘All That Art’ event with our best theme yet,” said Kaelyn Ryan, USU Student Events Assistant. “It’s important to take a break from classes and relax by letting your inner artist shine through. Whether you’re the next Picasso or you like to doodle during class, we have something fun and awesome for you here!”

At “All That Art: Candy Land”, you can check out a range of exciting artistic pursuits. From making bath bombs to vinyl record paint splatter, there are fun activities to enjoy at every stop along the path! You and your friends can also enjoy free food and a sweet-filled candy bar while listening to catchy beats spun by DJ Complex Lex. Treat yourself to free food and be entered into the raffle to win cool prizes including larger-than-life candy.
