“Where Matadors Belong,” Created by Students for Students

Northridge — The University Student Union (USU) is excited to announce the new fall edition of the podcast, “Where Matadors Belong.” Tune in every month and listen to your brand-new student co-hosts, Sharon Cruz and Rocky Walker, talk about the latest scoop on what is happening at CSUN and the community! Whether you want a preview of upcoming USU events or you simply want to chill with Cruz’s and Walker’s engaging conversations on how to navigate through student life, you do not want to miss this fun and informative podcast focused on why Matadors like you belong here!

“We hope our podcast ignites an ongoing conversation among the CSUN community,” said Sharon Cruz, co-host for “Where Matadors Belong.” “As students, it is important that our voices are heard on any concerns so that our experience here at CSUN can be even better. We also want to entertain you along the way.”

Listeners can tune in on Spotify or Apple Podcasts. From managing the university’s current hybrid learning model to discovering how you can get involved in campus life at the USU during the pandemic, Cruz and Walker will inform you on some helpful tips and valuable insights by sharing their own student experiences. They want listeners to experience an authentic connection with the co-hosts and an enhanced sense of belonging at CSUN.

Created by CSUN student for CSUN students, “Where Matadors Belong” is all about maximizing your student life at CSUN. Join in from the comfort of your own device and listen to the monthly podcast on Spotify and Apple Podcasts.
