
Department: Secondary EducationEffective Date of Appointment: Spring 2019About the University:

One of the largest universities in the country, California State University, Northridge (CSUN) is an urban, comprehensive university that delivers award-winning undergraduate and graduate programs to nearly 40,000 students annually and counts more than 330,000 alumni who elevate Southern California and beyond. Since its founding in 1958, CSUN has made a significant and long-term economic impact on California, generating nearly $1.9 billion in economic impact and more than 11,700 jobs each year. The LAEDC recognized CSUN as its 2015 Eddy Award winner for its positive economic impact. Serving more students on Pell Grants than any other institution in California, CSUN is also a social elevator and one of the most diverse universities in the country. CSUN ranks 13th in awarding bachelor's degrees to traditionally underserved students and enrolls the largest number of Deaf and Hard-of-Hearing students of any U.S. state university. The journal Nature recently named CSUN a Rising Star for scientific research, and the NSF ranks CSUN in the top five nationally among similar institutions for graduates who go on to earn doctorates in the sciences. CSUN is where individuals rise. And through them, so does Greater Los Angeles and beyond.

About the College:

The Michael D. Eisner College of Education, one of the largest public colleges of education in California, comprises six departments, 27 credential programs, numerous master's degrees, and one doctoral degree. The Department of Deaf Studies serves undergraduate students and is the largest department of deaf studies on the west coast. The Departments of Elementary, Secondary, and Special Education offer blended subject matter credential programs for undergraduates as well as post baccalaureate credential pathways and master's programs. The Educational Leadership and Policy Studies Department offers an administrative credential and a master's and doctoral degree in Educational Leadership. The Educational Psychology and Counseling Department offers master's degrees in counseling and educational psychology, and is unique in offering a Marriage and Family Therapy MS. Among the 11 centers and institutes in the college are the Center for Teaching and Learning (CTL) and Teaching, Learning, and Counseling Consortium (TLCC). The TLCC offers:

- Parent training
- Literacy intervention for K-12 students
- Counseling services for families
- Affordable psycho-educational assessment services.

The College's programs and centers reflect its core values: achieving academic excellence, using evidence in making educational decisions, fostering ethical practice, developing collaborative partnerships, respecting diversity, and promoting creative and reflective practice. These values are also reflected in partnerships such as the Northridge Academy High School and the CHIME Institute, which includes charter schools and an early intervention preschool. Graduates of the College's credential programs have earned local, state, and national recognition such as the Presidential Award for Excellence in Mathematics and Science Teaching, National Teacher of the Year, and California Teacher of the Year. Much of the excellence is achieved through a consistent focus on applied research and a collaborative and exemplary faculty, and as a result the College has regularly been one of the top two colleges in research grant awards at California State University, Northridge.

About the Department:

The Department of Secondary Education in the Michael D. Eisner College of Education offers preliminary teaching-credential and master's degree programs. The Preliminary Single Subject Credential Program is offered in 10 subject areas via multiple pathways: Traditional (self-paced), Accelerated (two semesters), Intern (for fulltime teachers simultaneously earning credentials), and Integrated (undergraduate). Our six master's degree programs—in English, Mathematics, and Science Education; Educational Technology; Multicultural and Multilingual Education; and Curriculum and Instruction—are designed to advance the knowledge, practice, and leadership ability of current teachers.

CSUN's Commitment to You:

CSUN is committed to achieving excellence through teaching, scholarship, learning and inclusion. Our values include a respect for all people, building partnerships with the community and the encouragement of innovation, experimentation and creativity. CSUN strives to cultivate a community in which a diverse population can learn and work in an atmosphere of civility and respect. CSUN is especially interested in candidates who make contributions to equity and inclusion in the pursuit of excellence for all members of the university community.
