/BUILD_PODER_CSUN

The 2nd annual fall conference is part of BUILD PODER's efforts to promote the presence of under-represented students in the biomedical fields.

This is a day-long event featuring a student poster session, presentations by two respected scholars, and a dynamic and social justice art installation from Alex Ojeda, MOSAIC mentors and mentees.

The presenters will interrogate the history of racism in the sciences, as well as its positive impact today on communities of color. Students will be exposed to the significance of their involvement in biomedical research and practice.
