

CALIFORNIA STATE UNIVERSITY, NORTHRIDGE DEPARTMENT OF POLICE SERVICES

AN ACCREDITED LAW ENFORCEMENT AGENCY

Dear CSUN Housing Community Members:

Welcome to CSUN and the 2014-2015 academic year! Eight years ago we began the community policing initiative that dedicated a patrol of two police officers (Wednesday through Saturday) to the housing community. Our mission was to deliver police services that included crime prevention, problem-solving and partnerships with our housing community. Our goal was to enhance the safety of all students and staff within the housing community. We are pleased to advise you that our community policing program partnership with our Residential Life colleagues has been very successful. In addition to our focus on crime prevention education, we have been able to increase our response time to calls for service within the housing environment and to decrease crime within the residential community.

Officer Arcelia Rosas and Officer Ryan Wells will comprise this year's team. During the first couple of weeks of this new academic year they will be making their way around UPA to introduce themselves to students and staff. They will be easy to spot within the community as their primary means of patrol will be on bicycles or on foot patrol. Any opportunity that housing staff and members of the housing community have to invite the officers to meetings, study breaks, socials, sports events, etc. is strongly encouraged.

We also want to remind students of our police substation, just south of UPA 14. The substation serves as the base of operations for the housing community policing team and enables housing residents to take care of basic police services, like filing a police report or obtaining crime prevention information, in lieu of visiting our primary Police Services facility at the corner of Darby and Prairie streets. One or more officers are generally available between 8pm and 10pm unless calls for service take one or both away from the substation; the main police department is open 24 hrs. a day, seven days a week. We hope that all members of the housing community will stop by both of our locations and familiarize themselves with our services.

Additionally, we want to urge resident advisors to work with the community policing team to bring crime prevention programs to housing residents throughout the year. The team can put on presentations on personal safety, laptop theft prevention, identity theft, and alcohol and drugs that are tailored to your residents in a program length that meets your needs. If you'd like to request a crime prevention presentation, please email the community policing team at communitycops@csun.edu or call (818) 677-2107. The team is on duty Wednesday through Saturday beginning at 6pm, and can be available for presentations during these days.

As we enter this new academic year, we look forward to working with everyone in the housing community as we work together to identify public safety issues, develop problem solving tactics and create strategies for implementation of those solutions. If you have any questions about the community policing program, please feel free to contact my office at (818) 677-2201.

Anne P. Glavin
